SHE MEANS BUSINESS

For our new partnership between the MNC Absa and NGO BRAC, we have created a new logo for our created CSR initiative “She Means Business,” in which Absa will provide microloans toward women in Bangladesh to aid them in growing their small businesses and becoming flourishing entrepreneurs.

- Present Branding: This logo features the distinctive fonts used in Absa and BRAC’s branding, using the letters “a” and “b” to represent them in their signature colors for recognition purposes, along incorporating both their shaped logos into the design, with the Absa circle creating the border and the BRAC circle making leaves on the trees. Also, No colors appear to be considered offensive in Bangladesh, so we mainly used Absa and BRAC’s branding colors for recognizability and out the name of our venture (which is written in both English and Bengali) in the colors of the Bangladesh flag to show where our campaign will take place.
- Our initiative’s branding: The tree represents how both the firms and women entrepreneurs will be able to grow and thrive together through the partnership/program, as trees are symbolically seen as signs of prosperity in Bengali culture.
